
DUAL REBATED COMPOSITE DOORS

Doors with a modern performance

Our British made doors are manufactured to the highest specification, with attention to detail only available on a hand made door.

Our door designs with glass sealed unit glazing are machined with CNC automatic routing machines, to ensure that consistency of the precision glazing tolerances, are maintained throughout the process of manufacturing our doors.

All doors are fitted with high security glazing cassettes that are secured internally to the door.

The door glazing sealed units are fitted internally with high performance triple glazed sealed units, to enhance the security and comfort of your home.

Our door is manufactured using an exceptionally strong construction method with Aluminium for added strength and rigidity. PVCu skins give longevity in service with minimal maintenance.

The door leaf is manufactured with an Aluminium substrate, to enhance the strong secure construction and increase the security performance during testing. The dual rebate seals are essential to provide protection to your home from the elements of our British weather.

High security multipoint locking mechanisms are encased in the Aluminium structure and carefully selected for their security, integrity and also long term reliability for the homeowner.

Our twin seal double rebated doors include pressure rollers to ensure the contact of the twin seals is maintained to give a consistent pressure seal on the door outerframe.

FEATURES & BENEFITS

Our door construction is unique.

An exterior/entrance door should have some substance. You should want that substantial feel that reassures. Closing our doors secures your world into two parts, the outside elements and the inside of your home.

The door is assembled using an exceptionally strong construction method with Aluminium-reinforcing, insulation and PVCu to form a reliable composite door with integrity. Our doors are designed to keep your home warm, safe and secure.

The door leaf is 65mm in overall thickness for your secure peace of mind, with triple glazing of 46mm to ensure your home is kept warm through our British winters.

Dual rebates created on our door leaf is to ensure the draught sealing efficiency of our door is not compromised.
